Course Description
During this twenty-four day Maymester course in Paris, students will explore moments in Parisian salon culture as sites of artistic inspiration and collaboration. In doing so, students will investigate the cross-cultural legacy of Paris, and reflect on their own positions as global ambassadors of music, dance, and culture.

Throughout the history of Paris, artists and intellectuals have gathered in the drawing rooms of notable salonnières to exchange new ideas and refine their aesthetic tastes. Using this model, we bring together artist-scholars of diverse backgrounds to explore specific salons of the past, engage in conversation, broaden our collective cultural literacy and seize possible opportunities for present-day creative projects.

Learning Objectives
By the end of the Maymester, students will be able to:
• identify and describe trends and major artistic figures of the Parisian salon.
• evaluate the historic significance of Paris as a center for music, dance, and general culture in reflective travel essays. Students will be asked to engage with urban and global geography as well as political economy. How, for instance, have Paris' urban geography and France’s situation in relation to the Middle East, Africa, and Europe poised it to be a cultural center? How has the city’s cultural positioning shifted amid larger shifts in commerce and labor from the Age of Enlightenment to our own age of neoliberalism? The experience of walking through Paris, visiting its museums, concert halls, and performance spaces, will guide students as they reflect on these questions.
• relate significant elements in salon culture to broader social, cultural, and national currents. In reading excerpts from Benjamin's Arcades Project, students will be asked to create their own constellations of meaning between seemingly disparate phenomena. To choose just one example, how do Paris' spiraling arrondissements act simultaneously as a vortex attracting wealth and power to the city’s center, while flinging unassimilated cultures and cultural practices (like hiphop) to the city’s outskirts?
• contextualize their own artistic practice within the history of Parisian salon culture. What forms will the twenty-first-century salon take, given globalism and the necessity for long-distance collaboration?
• synthesize their experiential and scholastic studies in Paris to create a presentation for Dean Cutietta that addresses the role of a global education in creating future arts leaders.

Course Materials

There are three required texts (see Course Schedule for specific due dates):

Denis Diderot, Le Neveu de Rameau (Paris: Larousse, 1993) [an English translation will be made available via Blackboard.]

Mary McAuliffe, Twilight of the Belle Époque (Lanham, MD: Rowman and Littlefield, 2014). (Available for purchase on Amazon.)

Recommended and Required films (These films will be available on reserve at the Cinema Library by the beginning of the Spring 2017 term. Those with asterisks are required viewing, and will be the subject of discussion during specific classes listed in the Course Schedule.)

Les quatre cents coups, dir. François Truffaut, 1959 *
À bout de souffle, dir. Jean-Luc Godard, 1960 *
Étoiles: Dancers of the Paris Opéra Ballet, dir. Nils Tavernier, 2001 *
Riot at the Rite, dir. Andy Wilson, 2005
Picasso’s Gang, dir. Fernando Colomo, 2012

Required listening (see Course Schedule for specific due dates. These pieces will be made available to students via a public playlist on YouTube.):

Pérotin, Viderunt omnes (1198)
Jean-Baptiste Lully, Armide (1686)
Jacques Offenbach, Overture to Orphée aux enfers (1858)
Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov, Shéhérazade (1888)
Joseph Canteloube, Chants d’Auvergne (1923-30)
Claude Debussy, Prélude à l’après-midi d’un faune (1894) and Pelléas et Mélisande (1902)
Maurice Ravel, Gaspard de la nuit (1908) and La valse (1919-20)
Igor Stravinsky, Le sacre du printemps (1913)
Edith Piaf, "Je ne regrette rien" (1959)
Boris Vian, "Mozart avec nous" (ca. 1959)
Juliette Gréco, "La Javanaise" (1963)
Serge Gainsbourg, "Je t’aime...moi non plus" (1969) and "Aux armes et caetera" (1979)
Michel Polnareff, "On ira tous au paradis" (1972)
MC Solaar, "Les temps changent" (1997)

Technological Requirements
Course assignments will require students to create digital content. Students will have access to a computer lab but are highly encouraged to bring:
• a camera
• lap-top computer, iPad, or other digital device

Description and Assessment of Assignments

Reflective Writing Assignments:
After each class meeting (whether in or outside of the classroom), students will be required to submit a reflective essay (500-word minimum and 2-3 photographs with descriptions). Each essay should respond to the following questions:
- What was the most interesting discovery for you from today’s lectures and site visits?
- Why did you choose these particular photos to accompany your reflection?
- How do these images reflect themes found in Parisian salon culture and/or document the history of the performing arts in Paris?
- How do these images related to the required listening, reading, or viewing assignments for this particular class meeting?

Final Presentation:
During the final class meeting on Thursday, June 1st, students will deliver a five-minute presentation to Dean Cutietta, Profs. Kopcsak and Demers, and fellow students that 1) contextualizes their own artistic practice within the history of Parisian salon culture; 2) relates specific elements of salon culture considered in class to larger social, cultural, and national currents; and 3) reflects on how this trip has been transformative as an artist, leader, and a global citizen.

Final Essay:
Students will submit by Friday, June 2nd, an essay (minimum 2000 words) that expands on their final presentations to the Dean. This paper should address one specific element of Parisian salon culture, discussing its history as well as aesthetic, political, and/or philosophical significance.

Students are responsible for being prepared by reading/viewing/listening to assigned selections in advance of each class session, thinking critically, and actively participating in discussions and activities.

GRADING BREAKDOWN
15% - Responsible and Respectful Participation (punctual arrival to each site visit; regard for fragile historical environments and objects; mutual respect; robust discussion participation)
30% - Reflective Essays with Photographs
25% - Final Presentation
30% - Final Paper

Course Schedule (subject to change)

Prior to departure:

Students should watch the three films marked with asterisks before arriving in Paris. It is highly recommended that students read all of the McAuliffe, and the Benjamin essay "Paris, Capital of the Nineteenth Century" before arriving; specific due dates for these readings are listed below.

Statement on Academic Conduct and Support Systems

Academic Conduct

Plagiarism – presenting someone else’s ideas as your own, either verbatim or recast in your own words – is a serious academic offense with serious consequences. Please familiarize yourself with the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Section 11, Behavior Violating University Standards https://scampus.usc.edu/1100-behavior-violating-university-standards-and-appropriate-sanctions. Other forms of academic dishonesty are equally unacceptable. See additional information in SCampus and university policies on scientific misconduct, http://policy.usc.edu/scientific-misconduct.

Discrimination, sexual assault, and harassment are not tolerated by the university. You are encouraged to report any incidents to the Office of Equity and Diversity http://equity.usc.edu or to the Department of Public Safety http://adminopsnet.usc.edu/department/department-public-safety. This is important for the safety of the whole USC community. Another member of the university community – such as a friend, classmate, advisor, or faculty member – can help initiate the report, or can initiate the report on behalf of another person. The Center for Women and Men http://www.usc.edu/student-affairs/cwm/ provides 24/7 confidential support, and the sexual assault resource center webpage http://sarc.usc.edu describes reporting options and other resources.

Support Systems
A number of USC’s schools provide support for students who need help with scholarly writing. Check with your advisor or program staff to find out more. Students whose primary language is not English should check with the American Language Institute http://dornsife.usc.edu/ali, which sponsors courses and workshops specifically for international graduate students. The Office of Disability Services and Programs http://sait.usc.edu/academicsupport/centerprograms/dsp/home_index.html provides certification for students with disabilities and helps arrange the relevant accommodations.

Program Details
We have contracted with the ACCENT International Study Abroad, which has worked with over 60 American colleges and universities, including the University of Southern California. ACCENT coordinates housing, provides classroom space, and assists with logistics, such as purchasing activity tickets, arranging transportation, and providing additional staff support.

Facilities
Classes will be held in the ACCENT Paris Study Center located at 89 Rue du Faubourg-Saint Antoine in the 11th arrondissement of Paris. The ACCENT Paris Study Center includes experienced local staff, computer access, a library, and a study area.

Emergencies
The ACCENT Paris Study Center has a contingency plan in the event of a health or safety emergency. Students have access to a 24/7 emergency contact number for ACCENT staff, as well as cell phone numbers for program faculty and staff members. They are also given a card to carry in their wallet with information about what to do in the event of an emergency. Employees of the ACCENT Paris Study Center are also in regular contact with officials of the U.S. Embassy in Paris. Students will have a full on-site orientation session upon arrival in Paris, during which they will be given information about how to register with the U.S. Embassy. For more information, visit http://accentintl.com/participant-information/safety-and-security/.

In the event of an emergency, USC faculty and staff members will contact International SOS, USC’s contracted health and safety emergency service provider for overseas programs at 215-354-5000, 215-942-8226 or phlopsmed@internationalsos.com.

The following resources provide detailed information about the university’s general plan for emergency response, which students are responsible for reviewing:

1. Overseas Study Trips-Destination Restrictions and Crisis Management: http://policy.usc.edu/overseas-study/

Student Health

Students must adhere to all university study abroad health requirements. They must be covered by the USC Aetna Student Health Insurance Plan or the USC Student Health Insurance Plan for Students Studying Overseas, both of which include special health and emergency coverage by International SOS. For more information, visit http://engemannshc.usc.edu/insurance/overseas-travel-resources/. We strongly recommend that students schedule medical and dental examinations and/or visit the Travel Clinic at the Engemann Student Health Center (http://engemannshc.usc.edu/medical/travel-clinic/) prior to departure. Students must sign the Know Before You Go Informed Consent Form and Medical Treatment Authorization no later than five weeks prior to the program departure date.

Student Safety

As articulated in the USC Travel Release, all students are considered adults and are expected to take responsibility for their actions while taking part in the program. As such, they are responsible for determining the potential dangers of particular destinations. They should visit the U.S. Department of State website (http://travel.state.gov/travel/cis_pa_tw/tw/tw_1764.html) and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control website (http://www.cdc.gov/travel/) for warnings and other important information. Students must sign the USC Travel Release no later than five weeks prior to the program departure date.

Lodging

Students will be housed in double/triple occupancy rooms in shared student apartments coordinated by ACCENT.

Meals

Welcome and farewell meals will be provided. Students will be responsible for all other meals.

Transportation

ACCENT will provide one way airport transfer upon arrival and one-way shared taxi transfer from ACCENT to shared student apartments. Students will also receive a Paris transit pass, valid on bus and metro for the duration of the program.

Cultural Activities

The Cultural Activities Fee includes the welcome and farewell meals, course-related visits, performance tickets, and a chartered bus for the excursion to Versailles. Furthermore, ACCENT will provide a student ID card allowing free individual entry to most National museums in Paris.
